Hiding in Plain Sight 2022

It's often been said that the best place to hide something is right out there in plain sight – this puzzle proves it! Each of the following phrases contains a respiratory-related term – equipment, disease, treatment, etc - all of the letters in each term have been rearranged into TWO OR THREE different words and placed together in the phrase.

Example: I was an Eagle Scout in my younger days.

Answer: Suction. Take the words “Scout in” and rearrange them to make suction!

A list of the hidden words has been provided for you at the bottom of the page.

Hint: This is a HARD puzzle, but you can make it easier by looking for odd combinations, unusual names, etc. – anything that just seems out of place.....

1. Rather than issuing birth certificates, hospitals in New York are now issuing birth coins.
2. A football fan from Nashville is otherwise known as a Titan Lover!
3. The Spinet company offers a number of models on a list they call the piano menu.
4. Local riots erupted when the verdict came back – not guilty!
5. A gavel is the most important tool that a judge can use.
6. The next social turn will include equality and justice for all.
7. When cooking a high-quality steak, make sure to use the grill but do not charbroil.
8. Never be rude – if you get my gist, polite works so much better for everyone!
9. Last night I had dinner at La Olive – it's an excellent Italian restaurant.
10. In America, airplanes are serviced in a hangar, but in Europe, it is called an Airbus tent.
